UNSER CAMPUS

An Awareness Campaign of the Ruhr-University of Bochum

Laura Chlebos

'Unser Campus' is a prevention or awareness campaign of the Ruhr-University Bochum. It should strengthen the sense of security on campus and stand up against sexism and sexual violence. To achieve this goal we want to increase the identification with the university and support a sense of community. We don't want to formulate partial warnings or rules of conduct for. In particular the attempt to create a culture of respect and appreciation on campus and the campus-wide sensitization for these sensitive topics are important parts of the campaign.

“Unser Campus” was developed between practice and theory - between academia, politics and activism.

We try to include an intersectional perspective in our work, keep different forms of discrimination in mind and visualize these different perspectives.

A last but not less important part of the campaign is to identify the potentials and local resources. We want to increase the permanent help and counseling structure for victims and implement trainings and a general course for all member to develop awareness and sensibility on campus.

Thank you!
